

Jazzorg2

---

No Known Copyright

Princeton University Library reasonably believes that the Item is not restricted by copyright or related rights, but a conclusive determination could not be made.

You are free to use this Item in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use.

Princeton University Library Disclaimer

---

Princeton University Library claims no copyright governing this digital resource. It is provided for free, on a non-commercial, open-access basis, for fair-use academic and research purposes only. Anyone who claims copyright over any part of these resources and feels that they should not be presented in this manner is invited to contact Princeton University Library, who will in turn consider such concerns and make every effort to respond appropriately. We request that users reproducing this resource cite it according the guidelines described at <http://rbcs.princeton.edu/policies/forms-citation>.

Citation Information

---

Morrison, Toni. 1931-

Jazzorg2

1 folder (partial)

Contact Information

---

Download Information

---

Date Rendered: 2019-09-05 12:45:30 PM UTC

Available Online at: <http://arks.princeton.edu/ark:/88435/cz30pz22v>

Jazzorg2.

"Don't ever think I fell for you, or fell over you. I saw you and I made up my mind. My mind. And I made up my mind to follow you too. That's something I know how to do from way back. Maybe I didn't tell you that part about me. My gift in the woods that even Hunter looked up to and he was the best there ever was. "

Now that I think about it, Joe did have a gift in the woods. That was the way he found his mama, his ability to find lost things and things hiding from you. And in virginia, it was as valuable as money most of the time, more valuable other times. As it was when no one but Joe could actually locate at will the place where the woman called Wild lived, although it's true that except for old man Hunter, everybody else tried to make sure that she stayed hid, stayed away from them because a thing like that could harm you. Pregnant girls were the most susceptible, but so were the grandfathers. Any fascination could mark a newborn: melons, rabbits, wisteria, rope, and they tell me worst of all is a shed snakeskin. So the warnings the girls got were part of a whole group of things to look out for lest the baby came here craving or favoring the mother's distraction. But who would have thought that the old men needed to be cautioned too; told and warned against seeing, smelling or even hearing Wild....etc,"