I like the black people

in the hospital who bring me things.

They are like fingers--mine--

that do not need biting to the quick.

My pearl-pink quick

is respected here

of course.

Hands like these are

rare,

like good bosses —

difficult to train.

You have to have a brain

that knows and loves

the difference.

When shots are called

there must be an ear.

Hands command;

fingers flex and bring,

Content to sport a ring

or two.
